Your operators don’t need another app

They need fewer.

Connected worker

Checklists, handover, skills and work instructions, finally off paper.

As a standalone app

Quick to start and good on the people side. But it doesn't know which order is running.

So it gets added alongside MES/MOM

And operators end up switching between screens.

Built into MES/MOM

Checklists appear because this order is starting on this line.

Skills are enforced

An operator who isn't qualified on a machine can't start an order on it.

Connected worker is the front door. MOM is the house behind it.

Make sure your door is attached to a house.
